

BRIGHTEARTH™ PRODUCT LICENCE AGREEMENT

The ownership of the copyright and all other intellectual property rights in the digital data contained in the Product vests in ComputaMaps and its suppliers and is supplied under license from the said copyright owner(s).

Furthermore, the copyright and intellectual property rights in the data selection, processing, enhancements, packaging, structure and format of the Product vest in ComputaMaps.

Licence and Copyright

User LICENSE:

ComputaMaps grants the licensee a non-exclusive, personal, non-transferable and non-assignable right to use the data at multiple physical sites within the same company or organization.

- The Licensed Product may be delivered via networked connection to workstations at the licensed site or may be copied to individual workstations at the licensed site;
- The Licensee, including contractors or consultants working for the Licensee at the licensed site, may use the Licensed Product in the production of any derivative product of any media type;
- The Licensee may distribute derivative products created using the Licensed Product to any workstation at the licensed physical location; and
- The Licensee may distribute or publish derivative products created using the Licensed Product as long as the derived product is an immutable representation of the Licensed Product. This means that the distributed derivative product data must not contain any of the original form or any form that is substantially similar to the original Licensed Product.

Distributor LICENSE:

ComputaMaps grants the licensee a non-exclusive, personal, non-transferable and non-assignable right to use the data at multiple physical sites within the same company or organization, and grants the licensee the right to:

- Use protected copies of the Licensed Product, in part or in whole, on unlimited physical devices and/or software applications manufactured by the Licensee for external distribution to third parties
- The distributable form of the Licensed Product data must be protected by use of a data format that prevents extraction or reconstruction of the Licensed Product,

- or data substantially similar to the Licensed Product, by third parties into any reusable format which could be used on any other system other than that created and provided by the Licensee.
- The Licensee must display the CompuMaps copyright notice, "BrightEarth™ imagery Copyright CompuMaps." with the distribution of all embedded copies of the Licensed Product; and
 - The Licensee may deploy Internet web services using the Licensed Product for external distribution to third parties. The Licensed Product data must be protected to prevent downloading of the Licensed Product, or data substantially similar to the Licensed Product, by third parties into any reusable format.
 - The Licensee must display the CompuMaps copyright notice, "BrightEarth™ imagery Copyright CompuMaps." with the web display of any part of the Licensed Product.

Uses and Restrictions

The Product may only be used as specified in this Agreement. The Product copyright notices may not be removed or obscured.

You may not and you may not permit others to:

- reverse engineer or prepare derivative digital datasets of the Product,
- rent or lease the Product,
- use the Product in any manner that infringes the intellectual property or other rights of another party